

Captive Bred Wildlife Permit

It appears the USF&W Service is going to try to re-implement the Captive Bred Wildlife permit again for all species listed on their Endangered Species list.

If you want to see the proposed rules and the updated threatened and endangered wildlife list; then check out the following links to the Fish & Wildlife Service to see this and other news.....Comment Period is until March 22, 2012

<http://www.fws.gov/>

http://www.fws.gov/policy/frsystem/1999rules.cfm?date=12&doc_type=proposed

<http://www.fws.gov/policy/library/2012/2012-3878.html>

And then there's this link about the Captive Breeding Program for reference;

Publishing Notice of Receipt of Captive-Bred Wildlife Registration
Applications Questions and Answers

<http://www.fws.gov/home/feature/2012/pdfs/FINALCBW-NoticeofReceiptofApplicationQandA.pdf>

Both parties must possess a federal permits when transporting across state lines. Click on link for more info:

<http://www.fws.gov/home/feature/2012/pdfs/FINALCBW-NoticeofReceiptofApplicationQandA.pdf>

For details about the Captive-bred Wildlife Registration under the U.S. Endangered Species Act then click on the following link:

<http://www.fws.gov/international/pdf/reg.pdf>